

FULLY CHARGED

PROUD TO SPONSOR

My name is Jason and I'm aiming to set a Guinness World Record by becoming the first person to travel at more than 90kmph or 55mph in an electric wheelchair designed and built by Indra.

Why? Well I was always a bit of an adrenaline junkie and loved skiing, grass tracking, fast cars and motorbikes. In 2013 I was diagnosed with a terminal illness, Motor Neurone Disease (MND) and my life changed beyond recognition. I have slowly lost the ability to move and I am now in a wheelchair and need fulltime care. Although the disease has broken my body it hasn't broken my spirit and my determination to carry on living life to the full.

But a project like this inevitably costs money and I am hoping that you can help. I am looking for corporate sponsorship. If you agree to contribute, I will put your company's name and logo on my helmet, race suit and the parachute. Any money left over will be donated to the Motor Neurone Disease Association (MNDA) who do a wonderful job of supporting families affected by this devastating disease.

The BBC have already started filming and it's expected that the project will attract National media coverage, so it's a win, win situation.

I am very grateful that you have taken time to read this and look forward to receiving your response.
